CLARENCE WALKER

By A. M. CORRIGAN.

RED MCGEE SAYS:

Each season sees some bush league kids tried out on the slide by all the major clubs. They've found too green, too old, too slow to step up in the class show—all some are, just plain dubs. They're either too dumb something, or they're not enough of something, more to say before the stands.

Young Walker's case was different, though. He wasn't green or old or slow—he had too little hands.

Yep, that's what Griffith told the kid. He said those tiny hands he had could never hold the ball. It is 1912 that was. The kid had Griffith good-by and home he is Arthur's Kay-see ball. The Kay-see ball was wild about the way they'd could line 'em out. The Browns threw out a line. They got him stuck him out in left to see if he hadting longer left. He started gain fine.

His fieldin' isn't always true—a ground ball
